Notes

- (i) These programme regulations should be read in conjunction with the University's Taught Programme Regulations.
- (ii) A core module is a module which a student must pass.
- (iii) A compulsory module is a module which a student is required to study.
- (iv) All modules are delivered in Linear mode unless stated otherwise as Block, eLearning or distance learning.

1. Programme structure

- (a) The programme is available for study in both full-time and part-time modes.
- (b) The period of study for full-time mode shall be a minimum of 3 years starting in September and a maximum of 4 years. The period of study for part-time mode shall normally be a minimum of 6 years starting in September or January and a maximum of 7 years.
- (c) The programme comprises 540 credits in total, of which 120 credits are from taught modules.
- (d) The programme of study shall consist of a taught element of 120 credits composed of 80 credits from level 7 or 8 modules offered within the Education Section of the School of Education, Language and Communication Sciences or as part of the Faculty Research Training Programme plus 40 credits of level 7 compulsory research methods modules (EDU8207, EDU8010 and EDU8011) and a research element consisting of a thesis on an approved topic with a maximum length 60,000 words.
- (e) The taught element consists of the following 40 credits of compulsory research methods modules:

- (g) With the approval of the Degree Programme Director and depending upon the academic background of the candidate, students who have RPL may be permitted to choose content modules instead of the additional 20 credits of research methods.
- (h) With the approval of the Degree Programme Director and depending upon the academic background of the candidate optional modules currently available in ECLS may be selected as alternatives to those listed above.
- (i) 20 of the optional credits can also be selected from other modules available elsewhere in the University, subject to the agreement of the Degree Programme Director.
- (j) On completion of the taught credits students are eligible to submit their research proposal. The submission of this proposal facilitates allocation of two supervisors by the Degree Programme Director and enables the student to transfer to the research stage of the programme.

2. Assessment methods

Details of the assessment pattern for each module are explained in the module outline.

3. Progress and Award

- (a) The progress of all students registered as candidates for the degree of Doctor in Education shall be reviewed at the end of the first 12 months by the relevant board of examiners and postgraduate research director in order for a decision to be made as to whether or not they have demonstrated the potential to succeed on the full programme. During year 1 (years 1 and 2 for part-time students), students are expected to achieve an overall average mark of at least 60% in the taught component of the programme in order to be allowed to progress to the next year of the programme. However, the Board of Examiners will retain discretion in the matter of progression and will consider each student on a case by case basis where averages are in the range 58%-59%.
- (b) In the case of students who have not demonstrated the potential to succeed on the full programme, they may transfer to either the MEd in Practitioner Enquiry or MA Education: International Perspectives programme as appropriate, to complete a 60 credit dissertation or be considered for the award of a Postgraduate Diploma in Education.
