2. Assessment methods

Details of the assessment pattern for each module are explained in the module outline.

3. Revision and Resubmission of Studio Work

The examiners may permit a student who fails the assessment for either or both the studio work and the dissertation module to resubmit the failed module/modules for reassessment within 12 months from the date of the first submission as a second attempt, capped at 50%.

4. Classification of the Award

Dissertation classifications will appear on the transcript but candidates will be assessed for degree classification on the basis of the semester 3 residency/exhibition module only.

5. Dissertation and Assessment

The dissertation will be marked after submission at the end of semester 2. Based on the varying approaches to advancing their skill on the MFA programme, students are able to approach their final project against four clearly defined assessment options.

Note: There is a 10% allowance either way on the written component

6. _ Other

The programme has an exemption from the Postgraduate Examination Conventions to assess semester 1 modules on a pass/fail basis and for final grade to be decided on Semester 3 Exhibition and Residency module.
